NATIONAL ECONOMY.

GIDDES COMMITTEE PROPOSALS.

CHANCELLOR'S SURVEY.

£64,000,000 SAVING ACCEPTED.

LONDON, March 1.

In the House of Commons, in the course of a survey of the Geddes committee proposals, the Chancellor, Sir Robert Horne announced amid Opposition cheers that the Government had rejected the recommendations regarding the reduction of teachers' salaries and the exclusion of children under six years of age from school. He said that the health of young children was immensely improved by the medical attention and care given at school. The Government would adopt a recommendation favouring teachers' contribution to the superannuation fund.

NAVAL PERSONNEL.

As regards the Navy, Sir Robert Horne said the difference between the Admiralty and Geddes recommendations was almost entirely a question of personnel. The Admiralty had now agreed to reduction to 98,000 compared with the Geddes recommendation of 88,000. The Government accepted the personnel of 98,000 as the minimum and hoped greater reductions in naval expenditure would be possible next year.

WAR OFFICE SAVINGS.

As regards the Army, the War Office had agreed to a reduction of £17,000,000 and 33,000 men which was equivalent to cancelling 24 line battalions and an equivalent of five cavalry regiments and a 40 per cent. reduction in the artillery.

TROOPS IN THE COLONIES.

Sir Robert Horne said that the committee's recommendation of a reduction of 54,000 men had been reduced to 39,000 owing to the Indian Government changing its mind with regard to the number of British troops they needed. The Army, excluding India and the Colonies, would be reduced by 24,000 men compared with the number before the war. Instead of the six divisions sent overseas at the beginning of war we would only be able now to send two divisions in the first month of any emergency.

Regarding the Air Force Sir Robert Horne said the estimates were being reduced from £18,500,000 this year to £10,500,000 next year. The committee of imperial defence was enquiring into the question of establishment of a ministry of defence.

OVERSEAS TRADE.

After mentioning the reductions to be effected in the ministries of labour, health, and pensions, Sir Robert Horne said that in view of the urgent representations from powerful bodies of business men, including cablegrams from many parts of the Empire, notably the Australian association of British manufacturers, the Government had agreed that it would be a misfortune to abolish the Overseas Trade Department as recommended by the committee, but would reduce the expenses of the administration, saving £48,000 compared with £90,000 under the committee's recommendation.

WASHINGTON SAVINGS.

In summing up Sir Robert Horne said that out of £86,000,000 reductions recommended by the committee the Government had accepted £64,000,000, including £11,000,000 that could be attributed to savings resulting from the Washington Conference. The government intended to do its utmost to effect further savings. They would be able to reduce the provisional estimates by £54,000,000 during the next financial year, but he anticipated that the estimates for the next financial year would be £484,000,000 compared with £665,000,000 this year.

PRINCE'S TOUR.

LAHORE'S WELCOME.

CROWDED VISIT.

Wednesday, March 1.

The fourth race in the Lahore Gymkhana yesterday afternoon was a big affair and for some reason it was generally supposed to be for Princess Mary's plate.

The Prince of Wales mounted amidst a regular storm of encouraging shouts the purport of which was that he must not fail to win. He rode splendidly and came in first amidst a hurricane of cheers. Then followed the disappointing discovery that that event was not for Princess Mary's plate at all.

This morning the Prince of Wales inspected a parade of police in the grounds of government house, some 400 officers and men were present under the command of Inspector General Farquhar. Later the Prince paid an informal visit to the troops in the Lahore cantonment where he inspected pensioners and ex-service men numbering 300 officers and 4,000 other ranks.

In the afternoon the Prince was present at a garden party at Shalimar given by the Punjab Legislative Council. After dinner he departed without ceremony for Jammu. In consequence great military preparations which he was to have witnessed were abandoned as the grounds of economy. The remainder of the Indian prince's journey is uneventful.

WASHINGTON TREATIES.

SERIOUS ATTACKS.

OPPOSITION'S UNSCRUPULOUS METHODS.

LONDON, March 1.

The Morning Post's Washington correspondent cables that a full page advertisement in the Washington Post, for which "The all-America National Council" is responsible calls on the American people to defeat the Washington treaties as "a denial of our ideals and surrender of our interests." The signatories of the advertisement are mostly hyphenated, suggesting that Irish and Teutonic elements are endeavouring to wreck the treaties out of hatred for England. The advertisement is part of the tactics of the opposition sentiment against the treaties.

The debate on the Yap treaty, has seriously disturbed supporters of the administration. If as much time is consumed on each of the other treaties as on the Yap the debate will drag along for many weeks, whereas the administration hoped that two or three weeks would be sufficient. The attack on the Yap treaty was led by Senator Johnson, the Republican leader who declared that Japan got Yap and other former German possessions in the Pacific as the result of a secret Anglo-Japanese agreement for division of the spoils of war in the Pacific.

The opposition to the Yap treaty is trivial compared to the fight which will be made on the four-power treaty.

Italy the Enchantress.

A large and deeply interested audience, which included many members of the "Friends of Italy" movement, listened with close attention at the Polytechnic to a lecture given by Chevalier Tullio Sambucetti on "Italy
the Enchantress." The lecturer recited the many directions in which Italians had rendered great service to the world in art, science, and literature, and referring to the part his countrymen played in the war, said that General Joffre once remarked to him: "Do you think we Frenchmen can ever forget what it meant to us when your Ambassador in Paris told us that Italy would remain neutral?" The "Friends of Italy" movement, the Lecturer remarked, was spontaneously born amongst the English, and it owed much of its success to Major Robert Mitchell, Director of Education of the Polytechnic, and to that great organization itself. It aimed at restoring the study of the Italian language, and had already been very successful in this direction.
In Italy the English language was studied very much, and it was compulsory in most of the schools. They wanted the Italians and the English to understand each other, and better they had done it. The lecturer early vote of thanks was given to Chevalier Tullio Sambucetti.

A LOTTERY BEHIDE.

HUSBAND DISAPPOINTED WITH PRIZES.

Disappointed with his prize in a matrimonial lottery, a Vienna chemist sought a divorce on the ground that during the ceremony in the church, he did not utter the word "Yes." He only took the bride to the altar because she threatened suicide unless he did so.

The pastor who performed the ceremony, and also the witnesses, told the Court that they did not hear the bridegroom say "Yes," but the former added, "He must, however, have murmured something, because if he had remained completely silent or said 'No' when asked his consent, the ceremony would have been broken off.
In any case, the couple exchanged rings joined hands, and received my blessing."

Divorce was refused by the Court on the grounds that the law does not demand utterance of the word "Yes,"
and that the exchange of rings, etc., left no doubt that the assent was seriously intended.

The bridegroom took the case to the Court of Appeal, who upheld the decision.

A PAINFUL ENEMY.

Rheumatism is a Blood poison.

Until not long ago doctors, as well as patients thought rheumatism was due to damp and cold. You need fear neither of these if you are not carrying rheumatism about with you in your blood.
It is an acid which only finds its way into impoverished blood, and is the worst enemy you can have.

This acid in the blood has an irritating effect, almost like vinegar dropped into a wound. The blood carries it to the muscles, and their tender surfaces are tormented by it, especially during changeable weather. Sometimes the acid concentrates in the joints and we grow stiff. The first sign is cracking sounds in the joints.

But it can be cured, for Dr. Williams' pink pills, by improving the quality of the blood, enable the system to throw off the rheumatic poison. Erich's grand purifying the blood as they do, Dr.
Williams' pink pills have proved successful in thousands of cases of rheumatism, among them being that of Mr. Frank R. B. Macdonald, residing at 29, Amisfield Street, Kelvinside North, Glasgow, Scotland.

"The rheumatism started in my foot," explained Mr. Macdonald, "but soon the pain and stiffness spread to my hands and then to my arms. I tried all sorts of so-called 'cures,' but none of them seemed to do me a bit of good.
I also tried special baths, but they only made me feel weak and ill."

"My wife mentioned to me that a neighbour had been very much benefited by Dr. Williams' pink pills, and more to please her than anything else I agreed to try them. Within a week or so I began to feel some benefit. I continued the pills, and the improvement became more marked. The rheumatism gradually growing less acute, and then gradually leaving one joint after another. My recovery is solely due to Dr. Williams' pink pills, and I have no objection to this information being published."

Now is the time to begin Dr. Williams' pink pills. Get a supply from any dealer, or direct from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 18 Ezechuen Road, Shanghai, $1.50 per bottle, 80¢ for 6 bottles, post free.

WHITE STAR LINE.

WORLD'S BIGGEST SHIPS
NEARING COMPLETION.

Important developments in the White Star Line's services will take place the coming spring, when two new ships with a combined gross register of 91,000 tons will be added to the sailings between Southampton, Cherbourg, and New York, making the total in that service 137,000 tons.
The new ships are the "Majestic," 56,000 tons, the largest steamer in the world, and the "Homeric," 35,000 tons, the largest twin-screw steamer, and they will co-operate with the "Olympic," 46,439 tons, the largest triple-screw steamer in the world, and the trio thus formed will provide a service of unrivalled efficiency.

The "Adriatic," 24,641 tons will be transferred to Liverpool where she will be operated with the "Baltic," 23,876 tons, the "Cedric," 21,073 tons, and the "Celtic," 12,026 tons, in a weekly service to New York via Queenstown. Thus the famous "Big

Four" of the White Star Line fleet will once more operate in their original trade. The combined gross register of the seven steamers named, the smallest of which is over 21,000 tons, amounts to no less than 228,000 tons.

The "Pittsburgh," a new oil burning vessel of 16,000 tons, is nearing completion, and is destined to ply between Liverpool, Queenstown, and Philadelphia, in which service she will join the Haverford, 11,635 tons, in the coming season. These two vessels are both of the "two-class" type which has lately become so popular with the travelling public.

The "Regina" and "Doric," each over 16,000 tons gross register, are completing for the White Star Dominion service, in which they will co-operate with the "Meganitic," 14,876 tons, the Canada, 9,472 tons, and the "Vedic" and "Rimouski" (the "democratic" ships, carrying only third class) each with a tonnage of 9,300.

The total tonnage employed in the White Star Line's North Atlantic
passenger service between England and America will then be more than 330,000, and the average tonnage of the 15 ships mentioned is over 22,000.

of these remedies would do more than temporarily relieve the pain. The only remedy that

ROYAL WEDDING.

Despite gloomy weather forecasts and much rain during the night, Princess Mary's wedding morning dawned brightly and with the dawn a pilgrimage began. The route was crowded by seven in the morning, mostly by women and children, but trams, buses and railways later brought thousands all in the happiest spirits in the spring sunshine. The look from Buckingham Palace at ten in the morning along the Mall packed with spectators was remarkable and members of the Royal Family including the bride, came to the Palace windows to gaze on the living avenue. Invited guests going on foot to the Abbey found difficulty in getting through the dense crowds thronging the precincts. Everywhere people were and followed Union Jacks many inscribed "Long live the King." They did not find the waiting dull with troops with bands marching to take up positions and a stream of motors conveying uniformed officers, officials and jewelled ladies in wonderful costumes to the Abbey long before the time fixed for the arrival of the Royal party.

Tramways chattering greeted the most simultaneous appearance of the Queen's procession from Buckingham Palace and Queen Alexandra's from Marlborough House. The Queen with her three sons in a glass coach were a hat of gold (issue surmounted by a plume of white ostrich feathers), magnificently attired, wearing a costume of plain gold. Queen Alexandra wore a beautiful dress of gold black brocade trimmed with old lace. The bells of St. Margaret's crashed a merry peal on the arrival at the Abbey of Queen Alexandra's procession followed by the Queen's procession of minute later. Ten minutes elapsed before the bride left the Palace. The King, in the form of the Grenadier Guards, tenderly handed his daughter into the carriage known as the Irish Coach because it was built in Ireland. He then took his seat beside her. The Princess was a vision of loveliness in her magnificent wedding dress. She looked pale, but she smiled happily in response to a tumultuous ovation. As the three carriages proceeded and followed the Sovereign's glittering escort the crowd vented its enthusiasm unrestrainedly and many women were moved to tears.

Shortly before the Royal processions started Viscount Lascelles left Chesterfield House in a closed motor car accompanied by his best man, Sir Victor Mackenzie, both in the uniform of Grenadier Guards. They were enthusiastically greeted. The gaity filling the streets was reflected even inside the Abbey whose customary sombre grey had been transformed into a spectacle of glowing colour. A bright crimson carpet covered the stone floor of nave and choir ending at the altar where the wonderful colouring of the ornaments hung on the high altar and masses of dimly burning candles formed a superb setting to the ceremony. Streams of sunshine through the windows played upon the lavish display of crimson and gold brocade. Decorations and jewels were worn by most distinguished representatives of every aspect of life in the Empire. The arrival of a corps of gentlemen-at-arms in scarlet gold and carrying halberds to take up their positions in the transepts completed the setting of the superb pageant awaiting the arrival of the bride.

Viscount Lascelles, who was seated in the sacristy, rose when the Royal Party, including Queen Mary and Alexandra, arrived and remained standing awaiting the bride whose entry was heralded by a choir singing accompanied by "Lord and Lady of the Empire." The bride's procession was headed by canons in magnificent vestments, then the choir and the Dean of Westminster preceding the bride, who walked with head proudly erect and her left hand resting lightly on the King's right arm. Viscount Lascelles advanced and stood beside the Princess on the top of the steps of the sacristy, the two bridesmaids standing at the foot of the steps. The King was slightly behind the Princess while the whole Royal party stood within the rails of the high altar. The Queen, whose eyes were steadily fixed on her daughter throughout the ceremony, was with the other Royal ladies, visibly affected as the Dean of Westminster began the ceremony with the opening exhortation.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, replacing the Dean of Westminster, conducted the service, the bride and bridegroom making the responses in a firm loud voice. Both knelt during the final prayer. The Archbishop of Canterbury addressing the pair, emphasised the fact that the duty of the very few millions of people all over the world. He believed that no daughter of a reigning King had ever before been married in the Abbey. He referred to the war services of Viscount Lascelles and to the services of Princess Mary in hospital, to her leadership and her disinterested English girlhood. He concluded by bidding them Godspeed on behalf of the Empire and people.

There were renewed scenes of enthusiasm when the Royal procession returned through the streets.

A striking incident during the return from the Abbey was that the roar of cheering in Whitehall ceased when it was noticed that the bridal pair had halted at the Cenotaph. Princess Mary handed a sergeant-major of the Guards who was on duty a portion of her wedding bouquet of white chrysanthemums and lilies of the valley to place on the base of the monument. Viscount Lascelles saluted gravely when the sergeant-major laid the flowers without card or inscription, in the centre of other floral tributes.

Beholders in the Abbey were more impressed by the family nature of the ceremony than even by the splendour of the spectacle. The final touch to this family aspect was given at Buckingham Palace on the occasion of the departure for the honeymoon in Shropshire. The King and his sons, standing at the exit archway in front of the palace, and the guests peon hand with four grey horses emerged, with rice and confetti with such vigour that both had to stoop low to avoid the onslaught. All were laughing heartily. The Queen was not present. She had just tearfully bade farewell to her daughter. The route to Paddington was still crowded with spectators who gave the newly-married couple a most enthusiastic ovation.

The wedding special train from Paddington to Shifnal was greeted with tremendous enthusiasm along the entire route. Whole populations turned out and continuously cheered the passing train. All railway platforms and other vantage points were packed with waving throngs. Complete schools of boys and girls assembled at some places. The special passed Loughborough, Birmingham and Wolverhampton stations slowly, enabling the waiting crowds to convey cordial greetings. The special accomplished a non-stop run, arriving at Shifnal to the minute.

The King in the course of a message to the nation expresses his deepest thanks for the warm and affectionate good wishes of his subjects throughout the Empire on the happy and memorable occasion. The goodwill of the people throughout the realm is appreciated all the more vividly because many are at present living in the shadow of very great hardship and anxiety.

PARIS, February 28th.

The press develops much space to Princess Mary's wedding, giving minute descriptions of the presents and dresses. Marshal Foch, interviewed on the occasion, dwelt on the British Army's heroism in the war and said it was fitting to recall tragic memories at a time when Britain was proudly sounding the praises of the Royal Family. He declared that all France was happy in its homage to the illustrious house to which France's most faithful friend, King Edward VII, the peace-maker belonged and of which King George and the Prince of Wales gained her sincere affection.

The Matin commenting on the wedding says the Alfred generalissimo tribute is a bunch of roses of France worthy of Mary, England's daughter.

LONDON, February 28th.

The royal bride was greeted very cordially in this morning's editorials which unite in paying tribute to Princess Mary. Viscount Lascelles and the Royal House, showering felicitations and praying for the couple's happiness. They dwell with particular pleasure on the fact that the Princess has chosen an English commoner.

The Mail declares that no marriage in the Royal Family has been more completely accord with national feeling, adding: "We are all thankful to the Princess for marrying for love."

The Westminster Gazette, going further, says the fact that the Princess is marrying an Englishman encourages the hope that the Prince of Wales will marry an Englishwoman.

The Express declares that the whole country approves of this love match. News pages are largely monopolised by the wedding, truthfully reflecting the keenness of public interest. A few people with camp stools kept an all-night vigil at Whitehall in order to get a good place at the wedding breakfast at Buckingham Palace, their Majesties and the bride and bridegroom occupying one table. There will be a special honeymoon express to Shifnal. Weston Hall is described as an ideal honeymoon spot surrounded by a thousand-acre deep park.

GENOA CONFERENCE.

LONDON, February 28th.

The possibility of Russia's refusing to participate in the Genoa Conference is suggested in a telegram from Moscow which says that Chicherin has declared the proposal to fix a six months probation for Russia as absolutely unacceptable. Russia desired to treat as an equal with equals and rejected any form of tutelage or admission of inferiority. If such a proposal were adopted as a preliminary basis of the Conference, Russia's participation would become problematical.

HELSINKI, February 28th.

A message from Moscow states that a conference of delegates of the Soviet republics of Azerbaijan, Armenia, White Russia, Bokhara, Georgia, Ukraine, Khorsin and the Far Eastern Republic has signed a protocol authorising Soviet Russia to represent them at the Genoa Conference.

POLITICAL SENSATION.

LONDON, March 1st.

The Parliamentary correspondent of the Daily Telegraph reports that Mr. Lloyd George is most dissatisfied at not receiving the loyal support from Parliament to which he is entitled, and has written to Mr. Chamberlain, as head of the Unionists, expressing this feeling in plain terms and intimating that he cannot continue to submit to the present humiliating conditions. The Telegraph in an editorial says that Mr. Lloyd George is completely justified. The continuance of such treatment as he has received must render his resignation inevitable.

SENATE AND TREATIES.

LONDON, February 28th.

Special progress has been made by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in considering the recommending of Conference Treaties and appears to have given much satisfaction in the United States. The Committee, with the one exception already telegraphed, has made a clean sweep nullifying the vexatious reservations to the Pacific Treaty. President Harding, according to the Daily Telegraph, New York correspondent, does not believe that the reservation adopted is necessary and that its only object is to conciliate the irreconcilables. He is uncertain whether the Senate will insist on the reservation, but it is accepted by the administration senators on the theory that it is in line with what friends of the treaty mean and in order to avoid a prolonged senate fight which might jeopardise ratification.

The correspondent adds that indications point to the entire work of the conference being approved by the Senate within a month or two. Senator Lodge believes that the Pacific Treaty will be extensively debated, but he hopes to see it ratified unchanged. As reported, ex-Committee members Borah and Johnson will lead the fight against the Treaty, offering various reservations or proposing changes. The Washington Post's political correspondent believes the adoption of the reservation aforementioned insures ratification, the only danger being that the well-meaning efforts, which enthusiastic friends of the treaty may make to nullify the reservation and to force the Senate to vote on the pact as negotiated.

WASHINGTON, February 1st.

The Senate's first action in connection with the disarmament treaty, was the rejection by 20 votes to 23, of an amendment to the Yee Treaty amplifying the provision that existing treaty obligations should not be abrogated. The Senate also rejected a proposal to extend the deadline for the disarmament treaty.

SEAMEN'S DELEGATES EXPECTED TO ARRIVE TOMORROW WITH FULL POWER TO SETTLE

4.45 p.m.

We are informed by the Hon. Mr. E. R. Hallifax, Secretary for Chinese Affairs, that a telegram has been received from Canton stating that four of the Seamen's delegates are expected in Hongkong tomorrow, with full power to settle.

The delegates may possibly be accompanied by several members of the Canton Chamber of Commerce.

FIREWOOD SHORTAGE.

CHINESE FINED FOR CUTTING TREES.

When a Chinese was charged before Magistrate Wood this morning with having cut trees in the government plantation at West Point, Sub-Inspector Watt said that firewood was very scarce now and could not be had at any price.

The Magistrate: It can be had at the P.W.D. at $2.20 per picul. At least that is what appeared in the papers.

A fine of $2 was imposed. Another Chinese who was charged with having cut down a fig tree, was fined $10.

Mr. B. Tanner's dance arranged for tomorrow (Friday) evening has been cancelled owing to the strike.

Owing to the strike, the ordinary meeting of the Hongkong Hotel Co., Ltd., has been postponed until further notice.

People who possess valid passports do not require a police permit to leave the Colony. Non-Chinese travellers who are without passports should apply for permits to the Deputy Superintendent of Police.

An advertisement published in this issue today invites people who are prepared to lead motor vehicles for transport work to get into touch with the C.S.P.

Effects of the seamen's strike in Hongkong are now being felt by both the shipping companies and shippers in Manila as shown by the fact that local cargo for Hongkong could not be shipped in any liner leaving Manila lately, says the Philippines Herald.

SHANGHAI ANXIETY.

(China Mail Special.)

SHANGHAI, March 2. Hongkong's strike is causing deep anxiety. Shanghai is watching developments with profound interest and concern.

CANTON COMMENT.

GOVERNMENT AFFRONTED.

In the course of a letter to day's Canton Times makes the following comment:

It is reported that Hongkong has declared martial law and has issued a notice that anybody desiring to leave the Colony will be obliged to apply for a permit. Yesterday afternoon the Kowloon end of the Canton Kowloon Railway suspended the sale of through tickets to Canton. The reasons for this drastic step are not forthcoming, so wild rumours are being circulated here. Chinese with relatives in Hongkong are anxious to know what is going on down there. Rumours always paint things far worse than they really are. It will be well to remain calm and wait quietly for an explanation. No doubt the order is only a temporary measure and communication between Canton and Hongkong will soon be restored to a normal condition again. Nevertheless it is passing strange that such steps should have been taken without an explanation to the Canton Government or even previous notice. Hongkong seems to have peculiar ways of doing things and often takes action which if like action were taken by the Canton Government, Hongkong would regard as an affront.

COFFEE.

In our endeavour to bring our coffee as near to perfection as possible, we have lately added to our machinery a special cooling fan.

This fan by drawing coal air through the coffee immediately after roasting, has the virtue of sealing the pores of the berry and so retaining the essential oils which are the source of the delightful flavour and aroma.

We specially recommend our blend of Mocha, South American and Nairobi berries at 85 cts. per 1 lb. tin, whilst our Rare Old Mocha at $1 00 per lb is famous throughout South China.

ODDS AND ENDS.

MAINLY SCISSORS LOOT.

A Romantic Ring.
The Director of the British Museum announces that a ring with ethnographic interest and a romantic history has recently been presented to the Museum by Sir Rider Haggard. A schoolmaster received it from a friend who had travelled much in America. The friend's story was that while in Peru he had opened a grave-mound, where-in he found thirteen mummified figures. On the finger of the principal figure was this ring, which the discoverer withdrew. It was the legend attached to this ring which, according to Sir Rider Haggard, first turned his imagination towards the invention of stories of adventure. Eventually Sir Rider Haggard became the possessor of the ring, and he has now transferred it to the British Museum. The ring is gold, of considerable substance, and the markings on it are of uncertain character.

Da Vinci Or A Copy?

In a lawsuit involving £100,000 brought against Duveen Brothers the question to be decided is whether the painting of "La Belle Ferroniere," taken to America for sale by Mrs. Andrew Hahn, was an original work by Leonardo da Vinci. Mrs. Hahn was on the point of selling the painting to the Kansas City Art Institute when Sir Joseph Duveen was reported as saying that the work was not an original, but a poor imitation, and thereupon Kansas City refused to complete the purchase. Mrs. Hahn asks £100,000, the amount she claims to have lost by Sir Joseph Duveen's criticism. In his answer Sir Joseph said the copy was not even the work of a first-class artist. Among the list of high authorities supporting the defendant's view that Mrs. Hahn's "Belle Ferroniere" is not the work of Da Vinci are leading Continental authorities, also Sir Charles Holmes and Sir Claude Phillips, of the Daily Telegraph. The further hearing was adjourned.

Westminster Abbey's Treasures

Canon Jocelyn Perkins (Sacristan of Westminster Abbey) lectured on the ornaments of the Abbey in the nave. The plate and other treasures were exhibited. Three times before the commencement of the twentieth century, said Canon Perkins, had inventories been taken of the Abbey's treasures. The first was in 1386 and the second in 1540, but the latter, it was evident, was a mere matter of business. It was certain that it had been intended to sell some of the treasures, and there were curious suggestions that the King himself had coveted some of the wonderful examples of the embroiderer's art. Some of the articles were certainly sold and some were appropriated by the King. It was from after the Restoration that the third inventory was taken, and much of the plate mentioned in it could be readily identified now. The canon proceeded to relate the histories of the various articles presented since the third inventory for use in the Abbey, and it was mentioned that the two altar crosses—one of silver gilt and the other of metal gilt—were presented to commemorate notable weddings which had been solemnised. Canon Perkins announced that the second of his lectures would have to be postponed in consequence of the preparations in progress in the Abbey for Princess Mary's wedding.

"Society" and Murder.

A curious story of a murder having been committed under the influence of a foreigner came from Nurec. It savoured of three bitter quarrels among peasants with which Balzac and Zola have made so familiar. Things were always going wrong in the family of Soucarret, who was at loggerheads with Jean Delias, his son-in-law, a farmer. Delias disappeared on Nov. 25, and it was commonly supposed that he had been the victim of a criminal attack. But his body has been fished out from the River Baise, and the police have been able to reconstitute a gruesome crime which is alleged to have been committed at the instigation of Faget, a village sorcerer to whom the Soucarret family had related their troubles. Faget is supposed to have declared that it was the farmer, Delias, who had brought about the death of animals and the withering of crops; that there would be no happiness for the family as long as he lived, for he had cast a spell upon it, and that he must be got rid of. After supper in the farmhouse it was decided to make away with Delias, whom Soucarret and another man named Lavery took to a wine store, where certain work had to be done. He was murdered with a hammer, his head put in a sack containing phosphates, a rope placed round his neck, and his body flung from a bridge into the river. Soucarret, Lavery, Faget, the wife of the murdered farmer, and another woman have been arrested.

ARMED ROBBERIES.

DARING AFFAIR NEAR KOWLOON DOCK.

The No. 1 boiler-maker employed at the Kowloon Dock was paying his foks their wages at No. 16, Lohunghang, a lane near the dock, about 7.30 last night, when four men, two armed with revolvers, entered the floor, the stair door of which had inadvertently been left open by one of the foks. One of the armed intruders pointed his revolver at the foreman and said "Don't move or speak." The other armed man held the foks, twelve in number, at bay, while the other two men helped them selves to $300 in notes from a table at which the foreman was sitting. The robbers then backed to the door where they fired two shots to discourage pursuit and then decamped.

FIRE AT HEADQUARTERS HOUSE.

About 7.20 last night, the fire brigade received a call to attend to an outbreak at Military Headquarters. On arrival it was found that the roof of Headquarters House, the residence of Major-General Sir John Fowler, K.C.M.G., C.B., D.S.O., and Lady Fowler, which was undergoing repairs, was alight. Prompt actions were taken, and after a short but stiff fight, the flames were arrested before they had time to take a hold. The roof has a layer of tar composition over the rafters, and it is believed that the heat of a Chinese clay stove found there had ignited the tar. The tar naturally burned readily, and there was considerable difficulty in extinguishing the flames. Chemical extinguishers had to be used before the fire was got under control. Damage was confined to a portion of the roof about six feet square, while a part of the ceiling was damaged by water.

COMING MARRIAGES.

Mr. F. A. Dinsdale, residing at the Peak Hotel, to Miss Dorys Margaret Smith, of No. 96, The Peak.

The s.s. "Nichiren Maru" lies wrecked on the Hainan Head Bank in a position from which the 180 foot hull of Hainan Head bears S. 45° W., magnetic, distant about 1.6 miles. The latest report, according to Mr. J. T. Eldridge, the Coast Inspector, is that the masts of the wreck are showing above water. The wreck lies clear of the fairway for ships, but the position given above should be regarded as "position doubtful."

PREMIER'S DISLOYALTY PLAINT.

GENERAL ELECTION SQUABBLE.

LONDON March 1.

The political sensation of the hour is Mr. Lloyd George's communication to Mr. Austen Chamberlain. Though it is not confirmed that the Premier sent a letter to Mr. Chamberlain, the evening papers agree that he complained at least verbally of disloyalty of a section of Conservative Coalitionists and intimated that he intended no longer to submit to language and tactics deliberately meant to humiliate him.

The quarrel dates back to the action of Sir George Younger, Chairman of the Conservative organisation thwarting the Premier's plans for a general election early in the new year and has since been accentuated by speeches by Sir George Younger sneering at the Coalition Liberals in spite of assurances Mr. Lloyd George had received of loyalty from Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Birkenhead.

A meeting of Conservative leaders was held to-day to discuss the position. Apart from the irreconcilable die-hard Conservatives who desire to rupture the Lloyd George section the Conservatives are dissatisfied with the Government's failure to reduce the income tax.

INDIAN TAXATION INCREASED.

SURPLUS BECOMES DEFICIT.

NEW CUSTOMS TARIFFS ANNOUNCED.

LONDON, March 1.

Trade depression, poor monsoon, and labour troubles have resulted in the anticipated surplus of 71 lakhs which has been converted into a deficit of 34 crores in the present budget for India.

Sir William Hailey, finance member, making a statement in the Legislative Assembly, recommended an increase of 25 per cent. in railway passenger fares, the enhancement of inland postal rates, and increase in income tax and super tax on the customs. The last-named is estimated to yield 15 crores, including an advance in ad valorem duties to 15 as against 15 per cent. on cotton goods, 7½ as against 3½ per cent. on sugar, 25 as against 15 per cent. on machinery, iron, steel and tin. A new 5 per cent. duty is imposed on imported yarn and the salt duty will be doubled.

EQUITABLE CONCERNS FAILURE.

ELLIS COMPANY'S £2,000,000 LIABILITIES.

LONDON, March 1.

At a meeting of the creditors of the stockbrokers, Ellis and Company, the Official Receiver said that the liabilities were approximately £2,000,000 and the assets £500,000. He said that Bevan, the senior partner, who had amassed a fortune between 1914 and 1920, had not kept the other partners informed of the firm's financial position and had entered large commitments in connection with company promotions in spite of their protests. A trustee was appointed to wind up the estate.

NAVAL RAIDOS.

PACIFIC NEWS SERVICE EXTENDED.

Washington, January 17.—The Senate Naval Affairs Committee to-day voted to recommend for passage House Joint Resolution Number 7, extending the time for use of the Naval radio for transmission of news to countries bordering on the Pacific. The House resolution was amended, however, to extend the time for five years from next June instead of one year. The present authority under which the Naval radio is being used will expire next June and the resolution extending the time for another year was passed by the House last June.

GOOD DONE IS REALIZED.

In amending the bill so as to grant a five year extension, the Senate Committee took into consideration the good that already has been accomplished toward maintenance of world peace, and agreed without a dissenting vote that if newspapers and news associations were to be given encouragement toward continuing the service, there would have to be assurance against the necessity of renewing the agitation for authority every year or so.

Sponsors of the measure hoped that the authority would be made permanent, but argued that if this request were not approved, the permission at least be extended for five years.

The action of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee was based on the report of a subcommittee under the Chairmanship of Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington. The subcommittee report was followed by a lengthy discussion of the entire subject, during which all angles of the situation were brought out.

ESSENTIAL TO PEACE.

The opinion was general that the transmission of news to countries bordering on the Pacific is essential toward maintenance of friendly relations, and it was brought out that this service could not be undertaken through private companies because of prohibitive rates.

When the sub-committee's report was read, recommending that an extension be granted for five years, Senator Frederick Hale of Maine, contended authority should be limited to three years. Others, however, brought out that under five years contracts, newspapers and press associations would be enabled to make more complete and definite arrangements for sending these news reports, and when the vote was taken Hale joined with the others and made the recommendation unanimous.

STEP TO CONTINUE FRIENDLINESS.

The opinion of committee members was general that in recommending this legislation to the Senate, a step has been taken toward assuring a continuance of friendly relations between the countries bordering on the Pacific. It was pointed out that misunderstandings which are bound to arise when one nation is not advised as to what is going on within the borders of another country, will be minimized by the transmission of these news reports.

RACE PONIES.

AUCTIONED YESTERDAY.

HONGKONG CHIEF STABLES $1,050.

At the Jockey Club Stables, Causeway Bay, yesterday afternoon, Mr. A. E. W. Davis, of Messrs. Hughes and Hough, conducted a sale of 65 of the ponies which took part in the race meeting concluded last Saturday. There was a large number of prospective buyers present, and the prices realised amounted to just over $4,000. With the exception of Hongkong Chief which brought $1,050 and seven other ponies, competition for which was keen, moderate prices were realised in most cases, several ponies being knocked down at $20 each. The bidding for Hongkong Chief, which started at $300, was confined to Mr. H. P. White and Mr. A.M.L. Soares. The price rose steadily by bids of $100 and later $50, until eventually the pony was sold to Mr. Soares for $1,050. The next highest price was fetched by Repulse Bay Chief, which was sold to Mr. H. M. H. Nemaze for $300. Messrs. G. H. ## "NEW YORK IDEA."

CORONET THEATRE'S WITTY SATIRE.

Leavened by a happy sense of humour and sharpened by a keen note of satire, "The New York Idea" comes to the Coronet Theatre this evening the clever film version of a clever stage comedy. Taking modern society divorce as the subject for its mordant wit, this entertaining photoplay gives Alice Brady a fine role as the young wife (frivolous but really in love with her husband) who is misled by the "New York idea" "marry for whim and leave the rest to Fate and the divorce court." She soon finds that a little evidence (even if it is only manufactured to secure a "quiet" divorce) is a dangerous thing and finds it harder to extricate herself from the tangle which results from her unfounded jealousy. Introducing several engaging characters and a number of amusing situations, "The New York Idea" is a successful stage play, an excellent film comedy.

LOCAL FLOWERS.

THIS AFTERNOON'S FINE SHOW.

The 1922 flower show of the Hongkong Horticultural Society was held in the Botanical Gardens this afternoon. The show was opened by H. E. the Governor at 2 p.m. and will continue until 6 o'clock when the prizes will be distributed. There was a large and beautiful collection of vegetables, pot plants and cut flowers on exhibition. The generally high standard of excellence made the judges' task a difficult one.

As in former years, Lady Ho Tung, Sir Paul Chater, Mrs. H. W. Bird and the Hongkong Club entered some very fine exhibits and these as hitherto did not fail to secure awards. The Hongkong Club specialised in the vegetable section and won some high awards. Lady Ho Tung was deservedly successful with her exhibits in every section of the show, while Sir Paul Chater's dahlias and other flowering plants could not fail to catch the eyes of the judges.

Although threatening weather was favourable, and but for the uncertainty, owing to the strike, whether the Hongkong Club could supply afternoon tea, everything made for a very pleasant afternoon. There were not many present at the actual opening of the show, but of course, 2 p.m. is an inconvenient time for most people on a weekday, and doubtless the attendance will improve between 4 and 6 p.m.

The Band of the King's Regiment was in attendance early, and contributed an excellent programme of music.

LINER'S MISSING GOLD.

TREASURE NEARLY ALL RECOVERED.

A few weeks ago the cables told briefly of the mysterious disappearance of a large sum of gold from the strong-room of the Pacific liner "Sonoma."

The robbery seems to have been an extraordinarily daring affair, according to the fuller accounts now to hand by mail, which give a detailed description of the theft of the five boxes of gold, a total value of £25,000, and of the subsequent accidental recovery of practically the whole amount.

The money was shipped from Sydney by the Commonwealth Bank of Australia to its agents in San Francisco, being part of a consignment of £75,000 in fifteen boxes, each containing 5,000 sovereigns. It was under the joint control of the captain, chief officer, and purser, and when the bullion tank was opened at the port of destination only ten boxes of the original shipment were found.

Careful examination revealed the fact that the gold had been removed and others substituted, which, however, the original keys fitted exactly. The bullion was placed on board only a few minutes before the ship's departure, and was checked into the strong-room in the presence of the Commonwealth Bank officials, a representative of the shipping company, and the ship's officers, so that it was considered impossible that the gold could have been interfered with before the "Sonoma" left Sydney.

A minute search of the vessel was unsuccessful, and it was thought that the gold had been landed at Pago or Honolulu, the only two ports of call en route. Later, however, over £5,000 was accidentally discovered by one of the ship's engineers, who, when attending to a faulty ventilator shaft in the hold, pushed out a shower of sovereigns. This strengthened the belief that the remainder of the gold was still on board, and on the search being renewed the sum of £15,000 was found in three oil cans suspended from the stern of the liner below the surface of the water and attached to the rudder.

The whole of the missing gold has been recovered, with the exception of about $3,300, the loss of which falls on the insurance company.
